

FULKING - SHOREHAM STATION 13 km.

A delightful rolling ride under the downs followed by some interesting navigation in Lower Beeding, and then a route down the valley between the downs on an old railway line.

1) Ride west along a quiet lane.

2) Turn left on to the main road and then look for a drive/lane shortly on your right. This turns into somewhat overgrown track. There may be nettles in high summer. Cycle carefully along the track, which broadens out after a short while into a lane to reach a junction at (3).

3) Going west turn right along a track at the junction. This soon turns into a road. Keep straight ahead until you come to a no through road sign. Turn left here and head south here, through a one way system till you get to the main road.

4) Turn right at the main road and keep going.

5) At the roundabout turn left along the Downslink, a cycle path which runs parallel to the main road.

6) The route crosses the main road here. Be careful.

7) The Downslink leaves the old railway line here and runs along the side of the river, crossing it and then rejoining the old railway. The route is easy to follow until point 8.

8) At point 8 the Downslink runs next to a road, at a junction by a pub. Cross the road and head east on a road in front of the pub. Immediately after the pub turn right on a minor road. Keep on straight ahead to emerge just to the north of Shoreham Station.
